

The background features a large, light blue silhouette of a hand with fingers spread, reaching upwards. Several yellow stars of varying sizes are scattered across the white background, some overlapping the hand silhouette.

The Poetry Foundation and the International Lawrence Durrell Society
present:

THE POETRY OF LAWRENCE DURRELL

Thursday, July 5
7:00-9:30

Welcome and Introduction of White Mice Poetry Contest Winners
David Radavich

“Sea Sorrow” by Fernando Valdivia
(read by Anne Zahlan)

“Land” by Katharyn Howd Machan
(read by David Radavich)

“She Sails” by Paul Jones
(read by Paul Jones)

“I remember” by Malcolm Miller
(read by Rod Kessler, executor for Malcolm Miller)

and

Some Poems by Lawrence Durrell
(read by Pamela J. Francis)

“Harbouring: Dissenting Forms of Hospitality
in the Poetry of Lawrence Durrell”
Isabelle Keller-Privat, Université Toulouse Jean Jaurès